■ Pro Tip

If you only read one section, make it Scoring. If you read two, make the second one Duels — that's where the bragging rights live.

01 ■ Scoring

How Scoring Works

For every match, you predict the final score. After the match is confirmed, your prediction is scored against the actual result. Three points if you nailed it, one point if you guessed the right winner, zero if you backed the wrong horse. Simple as that.

"I predicted Brazil 7–1 Germany once. Nobody believed me. I retired undefeated. — Anonymous"

RESULT	POINTS	EXAMPLE
Exact Score Both home and away scores match exactly	3	You said 2-1 , result was 2-1 . Chef's kiss.
Correct Outcome Right winner (or draw) but wrong score	1	You said 2-1 , result was 3-0 . Close enough — both home wins.
Miss Wrong outcome entirely	0	You said 2-1 , result was 0-0 . Pack it up, friend.

■ Outcome Determination

Home win: home score > away score • Draw: home = away • Away win: home < away. We promise we didn't make this up.

02 ■ Predictions

Submit One Prediction Per Match

Submit one prediction per match with your expected final score for each team. Yes, that means you have to actually pick a number. "They both score a lot" is not a valid prediction. We checked.

Submit Before Lock Time

Each match has a lock time (default: 1 hour before kickoff). You must submit your prediction before this time. Once locked, predictions cannot be changed — not even if your dog ate your tactical analysis.

Edit Freely Until Locked

Create, update, or delete your prediction as many times as you want before lock. Only your final prediction counts. Flip-flop guilt-free.

Automatic Scoring

Once a match result is confirmed, points are calculated automatically. You don't need to do anything — just check the leaderboard and gloat.

Score Format

Both home and away scores must be non-negative whole numbers (0, 1, 2, ...). No decimals. No negatives. "3.14 - π " will be rejected.

■ Tip

Submit your predictions early! If a match kicks off earlier than expected, late predictions won't be accepted. The server enforces lock time regardless of what your screen shows. Yes, even if you swear it was on time.

"I'll do my predictions later. — Last words of every player on the leaderboard's bottom half."

03

■ Leaderboard

Leaderboard & Rankings

Your standings are based on accumulated points from predictions and flash challenges. The leaderboard never lies. Your friends, however, definitely will.

Leaderboard Views

Global	By Tournament	By Stage
All matches across all tournaments. The grand stage.	Points from one tournament only. Pick your battlefield.	Points from a specific round/stage. Surgical precision.

Tie-Breaker Rules

When players are tied on points, we use these rules in order. Yes, even alphabetical. Sorry, Zachary.

1

Highest total points.

2

Most exact-score predictions.

3

Most correct-outcome predictions.

4

Alphabetical by display name (final tie-breaker — change your name to AAA).

■ Frozen Stages

When a tournament stage ends, an admin may freeze its leaderboard. Frozen standings are final. No thawing. No appeals. Like a Pixar villain.

04

■■ Duels

Duels (Point Staking)

Challenge another player to a 1-on-1 prediction showdown. Wager your earned points — the winner takes the full pot. The loser takes a long, hard look in the mirror.

How Duels Work

- 1 Choose a match, an opponent, and a stake amount (1–50 points).
- 2 Your opponent has 24 hours to accept or decline. The clock is ticking.
- 3 If accepted, both players' stakes are placed in escrow (deducted from balance).
- 4 Both submit predictions through the normal system — no separate duel prediction needed.
- 5 When the result is confirmed, the player with more prediction points wins the pot (2× stake).

Staking & Escrow

- ✓ Stake Range
Wager between 1 and 50 points per duel. No betting your house.
- ✓ Escrow on Accept
When accepted, both stakes are deducted and held in escrow. The pot is real.
- ✓ Winner Takes All
The winner receives the full pot (2× stake). Net gain = stake amount.
- ✓ Tie = Refund
If both score the same prediction points, both stakes are fully refunded. No hard feelings.
- ✓ Insufficient Points
You cannot create or accept a duel without enough available points. Sorry, broke duelists.

04

■■ Duels (cont.)

Duel Rules

- ✓ One Duel Per Matchup
Only one active duel per challenger/opponent/match combination. No spamming.
- ✓ Standard Predictions
Both players use their regular predictions. The arena is shared.
- ✓ No Prediction = 0 Points
Forget to predict? You score 0 in the duel. Show up or pay up.
- ✓ 24-Hour Expiry
Duel invitations expire after 24 hours if not accepted or declined. Pending duels have no escrow.

Duel Lifecycle

PENDING → ACTIVE (escrow) → COMPLETED (payout)

■ DECLINED

■ EXPIRED

"Two players entered the duel. One left with bragging rights. The other left their group chat. — Forbes, probably"

05 ■ Flash Challenges

Flash Challenges (Paid Entry)

Quick questions created by admins during matches or tournament stages. Pay an entry fee from your points balance — answer correctly to win reward points. Fast, risky, glorious.

How Challenges Work

- 1 An admin creates a challenge with a question, entry cost, and reward points.
- 2 You pay the entry cost from your available balance when you submit your first answer.
- 3 You can change your answer for free as many times as you want before close time.
- 4 After the event, the admin selects the correct answer and resolves the challenge.
- 5 Right answer? Reward points are yours. Wrong answer? Your entry fee is gone. Such is life.

Entry & Rewards

- ✓ Paid Entry
Each challenge has an entry cost, deducted from your challenge balance on first answer.
- ✓ Free Edits
After your initial entry, change your answer as often as you want before close — no extra cost.
- ✓ Reward Points
Correct answers earn reward points added to your challenge balance.
- ✓ Insufficient Balance
You cannot enter if your available balance is less than the entry cost. Save up, hero.

■ Flash Challenges (cont.)

Challenge Rules

Types

Yes/No questions or multiple-choice questions with one correct answer.

Time Windows

Each challenge has open and close times. You can only answer while it's active and open.

Resolution

Admins select the correct answer after the event. Reward points are awarded immediately.

Cancellation = Refund

If an admin cancels a challenge, every participant gets their entry cost fully refunded.

Challenge Lifecycle

DRAFT → ACTIVE (open for answers) → LOCKED → RESOLVED (rewards paid)

■ CANCELLED (refunds issued)

■ Stay Alert!

Flash challenges can appear at any time during live matches. Check the Challenges tab regularly to catch them before they close. Remember: you can always change your mind before the deadline at no extra cost.

06

■ Match Lounge

Match Lounge

Every match has a comment section where you can chat, react, and discuss with other players. It's where the real game happens.

- ✓ Grace Period
Edit or delete your own comments within 5 minutes of posting. After that, they're permanent. Yes, even the typo. Especially the typo.
- ✓ Character Limit
Each comment can be up to 500 characters. If your hot take needs more than that, it's not a hot take — it's a thesis.
- ✓ Mention Other Players
Type @ to mention other players in your comments. They'll be highlighted, notified, and possibly mildly stressed.
- ✓ Be Respectful
Admins can delete any comment at any time. Keep it fun and friendly. Trash talk = ■. Trash behavior = ■.

"I came for the predictions. I stayed for the comments. — Every player, ever."

That's it. Now go play.

Predict bravely. Duel boldly. Comment kindly. And may the bracket gods smile upon you.
